Privacy Policy: Classora

Last Updated: 5 April, 2026

Classora respects the privacy of educational institutions, faculty members, and students. This Privacy Policy explains how information is collected, used, stored, and protected when using the Classora platform.

By accessing or using Classora, you agree to the practices described in this policy.

1. Purpose of Data Collection

Classora collects information only to support academic workflows. We do not collect personal data for advertising, profiling, or social networking purposes.

All data processing is performed to:

- Enable assignment creation, submission, evaluation, and result publication
- Ensure accountability, transparency, and academic integrity
- Support institutional administration and compliance

2. Information We Collect

a) Institutional & User Information

Classora may collect:

- Name, institutional email ID, and role (Student, Faculty, Admin)
- Academic identifiers (roll number, course, class, department)
- Login credentials (securely encrypted)

b) Academic Content

- Assignment files uploaded by students
- Submission timestamps and status
- Faculty feedback, remarks, and grades

c) Technical & Usage Data

- Login timestamps and activity logs
- Device and browser information (for security and performance only)
- Essential cookies used solely for maintaining secure login sessions.

3. How Information Is Used

Collected data is used strictly to:

- Manage academic assignments and evaluations
- Track submission deadlines and status
- Enable faculty feedback and grade publication
- Maintain platform security and system integrity

Classora does not:

- Sell or rent user data
- Use data for marketing or advertising
- Share data with unauthorized third parties

4. Data Ownership & Institutional Control

All academic and user data stored on Classora is the exclusive property of the institution.

Classora acts only as a secure digital facilitator, providing:

- Centralized storage
- Role-based access control
- Institutional visibility and oversight
- Institutions may request data export, archival, or removal in accordance with their academic policies.

5. Data Access & Role-Based Permissions

Access to data is strictly controlled based on user roles:

- Students can view only their own submissions, grades, and feedback
- Faculty can access submissions related to their assigned courses
- Administrators have institution-level oversight based on permissions

Unauthorized access is actively prevented through access controls and authentication mechanisms.

6. Data Security Measures

Classora implements industry-standard security practices, including:

- Secure APIs and encrypted communication
- Controlled database access
- Regular system monitoring and integrity checks

While no digital platform can guarantee absolute security, Classora continuously works to protect academic data against unauthorized access, misuse, or loss.

---

7. Use of Automation & AI Assistance

Classora may use limited automation to:

- Flag late submissions
- Identify highly similar content
- Assist with keyword relevance checks

These features are supportive only and never replace human academic judgment. All final grading and academic decisions remain with faculty members.

8. Data Retention

Data is retained only for the duration required by:

- Institutional academic policies
- Legal or administrative obligations

Upon institutional request, data may be archived or securely deleted as per agreed procedures.

9. Third-Party Services

Classora does not integrate with third-party advertising or social media platforms.

Any essential third-party services (such as hosting or infrastructure) are used strictly to support platform functionality and are bound by confidentiality and security obligations.

10. User Rights & Responsibilities

Users are responsible for:

- Maintaining the confidentiality of their login credentials
- Ensuring uploaded content complies with institutional rules

Users may request:

- Access to their stored information
- Correction of inaccurate data through institutional administrators

---

11. Policy Updates

Classora may update this Privacy Policy to reflect:

- Platform enhancements
- Regulatory or institutional requirements

Any significant changes will be clearly communicated through the platform.
