

Classora

Terms of service

Classora Team

Terms of Service: Classora

Last Updated: 5 April, 2026

Welcome to Classora. These Terms of Service ("Terms") govern your access to and use of the Classora platform, an institutional academic workflow and assignment management system. By accessing, logging in, or using Classora, you agree to be bound by these Terms. If you do not agree, you must immediately cease using the platform.

1. Platform Purpose & Scope

Classora is provided exclusively as a secure digital facilitator to digitise academic workflows, including assignment management, submission tracking, and evaluation. The platform is not a public forum, social network, or general file-hosting service. Its use is strictly limited to authorised students, faculty, and administrators of registered educational institutions.

2. Account Security & Role-Based Access

Access to Classora is strictly governed by Role-Based Access Control (RBAC).

- User Roles: Users are assigned specific roles (Student, Faculty, or Administrator). You are strictly prohibited from attempting to bypass routing protocols, escalate privileges, or access dashboards, endpoints, or data not explicitly authorised for your assigned role.
 - Credential Confidentiality: You are solely responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of your login credentials and active sessions.
 - Unauthorised Access: Any attempt to manipulate authentication mechanisms, tamper with session tokens, or exploit system vulnerabilities will result in immediate disciplinary action and account termination.
-

3. User Conduct & Academic Integrity

Collected data is used strictly to:

- Students: You agree to submit only your original work. You must not upload malicious scripts, corrupted files, or exploit automated submission mechanisms.
 - Faculty & Admins: You agree to handle student submissions and grades with strict confidentiality and process evaluations fairly within the system's intended workflows.
 - Prohibited Actions: No user may deploy automated scrapers, bots, or reverse-engineering tools against the platform. Uploading content that is unlawful, harmful, or entirely unrelated to academic coursework is strictly forbidden.
-

4. Content Ownership & Institutional Authority

- Academic Data: All assignment files, submissions, and grades remain the exclusive property of the institution. Classora claims no intellectual property rights over the academic content you upload.
 - Platform IP: The underlying software, architecture, user interface, and proprietary logic of Classora remain the exclusive intellectual property of Classora and its developers.
 - Data Retrieval: Institutions hold the ultimate authority over data access, export, and removal, handled exclusively through authorised administrative channels.
-

5. System Automation & AI Features

Classora utilises automated workflows for calculating submission latencies, detecting content similarity, and verifying keyword relevance. These systems are advisory. Final grading, academic decisions, and dispute resolutions remain the sole responsibility of the institution's faculty and administration. Classora assumes no liability for academic disputes arising from automated flags.

6. Account Suspension & Termination

System administrators reserve the right to actively verify user status.

- Suspension: If an institution flags a student or faculty account as inactive, suspended, or under disciplinary review, Classora will immediately halt system access for that user.
 - Termination: Classora reserves the right to suspend or terminate platform access for any user found violating these Terms or attempting to compromise system integrity.
-

7. Service Availability & Data Backups

While Classora employs industry-standard security and monitoring to ensure high availability, we do not guarantee 100% uninterrupted service. System downtime may occur for maintenance or unforeseen technical failures. Users and institutions are strongly advised to maintain local backups of their critical academic files. Classora is not liable for data loss resulting from hardware failure, user error, or unauthorised institutional actions.

8. Disclaimer of Warranties

Classora is provided on an "AS IS" and "AS AVAILABLE" basis. We disclaim all warranties, express or implied, including but not limited to the implied warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular academic purpose, and non-infringement.

9. Limitation of Liability

To the maximum extent permitted by law, Classora, its developers, and affiliates shall not be liable for any indirect, incidental, special, or consequential damages including loss of grades, academic standing, data, or institutional reputation arising out of or in connection with your use or inability to use the platform.

10. Modifications to Terms

Classora reserves the right to modify these Terms at any time. Significant changes will be communicated via the platform dashboard or administrative email. Continued use of the platform following such changes constitutes your binding acceptance of the updated Terms.

11. Contact Information

For legal inquiries, technical disputes, or compliance matters, please contact:

Email: info@classora.com